A. Background

Cross-cultural studies are studies in which comparable data on cultural traits or behavior from two or more cultures or societies are presented. These studies may assess similarities or diversities occurring in those cultures or test hypotheses concerning individual or group behavior. This instruction sheet provides guidelines on the usage of the free-floating subdivision –Cross-cultural studies.

LC practice: As stated in H 1075, LC catalogers will no longer use form subdivisions. For resources that would use form subdivisions, assign the LCGFT term appropriate to the form and/or genre of the resource in hand.

B. Recent revisions

2025-02: Updated template. Added alternative instructions for LCGFT implementation.

C. Definitions

Cross-cultural studies: works that report the results of cross-cultural studies or discuss the methods and techniques of conducting such studies.

D. General rule

Use the free-floating subdivision –Cross-cultural studies as a form subdivision under topical headings for works that report the results of cross-cultural studies on those topics or as a topical subdivision for works that discuss the methods and techniques of conducting such studies.

LC practice: Assign the appropriate subject headings for the topical focus of the resource. Do not use the free-floating subdivision –Cross-cultural studies as a form subdivision for works that report the results of cross-cultural studies. Instead, assign the LCGFT term appropriate to the form and/or genre of the resource in hand, e.g. LCGFT Cross-cultural studies.

Example:

Title: Suicide in different cultures.

650 $0 $a Suicide $v Cross-cultural studies.

LC practice:

650 #0 $a Suicide.

655 #7 $a Cross-cultural studies. $2 lcgft

Title: Studying in the family cross-culturally.

LC practice:

No change.

E. Restrictions on usage

E.1. General

LC practice: Assign the appropriate subject headings for the topical focus of the resource. Also assign the LCGFT term appropriate to the form and/or genre of the resource in hand, e.g. LCGFT Cross-cultural studies.
